

BREAKBULK EXPRESS

Physical consolidation to move multiple shipments; requires only one customs clearance on arrival, prior to deconsolidation

An easy import process and cost optimization are vital when technology companies export multiple shipments destined for many different consignees (business-to-business and business-to-consumer) to the same port of entry.

TYPICAL BUSINESS CHALLENGES

- Optimizing the cost of transportation
- Cutting customs clearance cost & complexity
- Lowering inventory & eliminating destination storage
- Achieving speedy time-definite delivery
- Reducing the risk of in-transit damage

EXCELLENCE. SIMPLY DELIVERED.

DHL SOLUTION

This solution enables multiple (baby) shipments to be consolidated into a single (mother) shipment before the export journey to a new customs union or another country. When the mother shipment arrives at the port of entry, just one customs clearance is needed, followed by physical deconsolidation.

SOLVING YOUR BUSINESS CHALLENGES

- ✓ Optimizing the cost of transportation – At origin, each supplier can consolidate same-gateway cargo for a single pickup
- ✓ Cutting customs clearance cost & complexity – Mother shipment export and import clearance (instead of clearing multiple baby shipments) reduces costs at customs; single payment of customs duties and taxes
- ✓ Lowering inventory & eliminating destination storage – Cut the inventory carrying cost; no need for destination-based inventory holding; baby shipments, once deconsolidated, are ready for direct distribution in the market
- ✓ Achieving speedy time-definite delivery – Shorter time to market compared to airfreight shipment; single distribution network enables control and real-time tracking visibility of mother and baby shipments
- ✓ Reducing the risk of in-transit damage – Baby shipment loss and damage are lower when transported as part of a physically consolidated mother shipment
