Compliance Organization

DHL Group has a comprehensive Compliance Organization headed by Global and Regional Officers and embedded in all countries worldwide by a network of Country Compliance and Export Control Representatives, Data Protection Officials and Compliance Champions.

Policies and Procedures

Our Code of Conduct defines clear ethical standards for DHL Group employees and spans the entire spectrum of our daily work and operations.

Policies include:

- Competition Compliance (anti-trust)
- (Supplier) Code of Conduct
- Export Control
- Anti-corruption and Business Ethics
  - Third Party Due Diligence
  - Gifts, Hospitality and Other Benefits
- Data Protection
- Supplier Risk Management
Monitoring and Improvements

Consistent monitoring and auditing activities take place on a global and local level. That is why we implemented a Customs Interaction Excellence Project (CIEP) to address the high risk area when interacting with customs authorities. Regular Export Control Compliance checks are embedded to ensure that DHL and customers adhere to applicable embargoes, sanctions and military regulations and anti-boycott laws. The Data Protection Management System guarantees proper handling of personal data, contractual obligations, as well as technical requirements.

Response to Problems and Disciplinary Enforcement

Management of non-Compliance is essential to support our commitment to lawful and ethical behavior. Employees are encouraged to report concerns to a 24/7 Incident Reporting System which is available in approximately 150 countries. An agile Data Breach process has been implemented globally in order to respond to Data Security incidents.

Risk Assessments

With regular workshops in all countries worldwide, we monitor and mitigate Compliance risks and customize action steps.

Training

Mandatory eLearning courses and regular face-to-face trainings promote understanding of Compliance, enabling our employees to observe our requirements in their day-to-day business. Compliance Awareness is also a module in our Certified program that every employee must complete.

Communication

The Compliance Office uses various communication channels which provide effective “Tone from the Top” and targeted messages, including articles and videos, social media activities, as well as posters and leaflets.
