

A selfie day in the life of...

Kyran Twyde, Apprentice Logistics Administrator

 8:30am

I start my day by checking my emails and begin processing our drivers expenses. I handle some driver enquiries and pay the congestion charges for any cars going to the centre of London

 12:00pm

I've had a delivery of driver uniforms this morning, so now I'm dropping them off to the driver controllers

 12:30pm

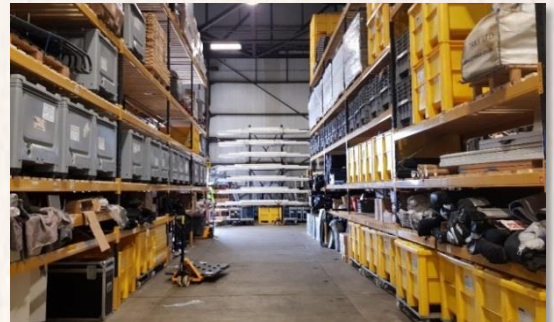

Here I am with some of the planning team. They allocate the drivers their deliveries and help with any problems throughout the day

 4:30pm

This is the warehouse where we store items needed for any driving events.

 1:00pm

Drivers deliver cars to us that we then send out to customers, and my job is to process their expenses for anything they need during the deliveries. Thought I'd show you one of the cars!

Now it's home time after another exciting day of being an apprentice!
